HILO BETSUIN'S 100TH MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR LILI'UOKALANI, QUEEN OF HAWAII

KT Cannon-Eger and Barbara Fujimoto with Professor Jackie Johnson Debus as the Queen

This is an event that I will remember for a very, very, very long time. I had never ever seen representatives of so many Hawaiian organizations in their ceremonial dress enter a Hongwanji temple in formal procession. After the sounds of conch shell subsided, they walked in following protocol appropriate for a queen and her family and filled rows and rows of the temple's pews. A portrait of the Queen, surrounded with ti leaves and greenery fittingly gathered from Hilo's famous Lili'uokanli Gardens, stood on the left side of the onaijin.

The Hilo Hongwanji and the Puna Hongwanji Choir gathered to open the service with the gatha, "Nori No Miyama." It was the first of two gathas the massed choir sang that was sung at the original service in 1901 at Hawaii Betsuin which Queen Lili'uokalani attended with Mary Foster. This marked the first time Hawaiian royalty attended a Buddhist service.

Representatives from each of the Hawaiian organizations participated in oshoko. I noted that their attention to the details of Jodo Shinshu's protocol for oshoko was precise, attentive and humble. I was impressed at their efforts to respect Hongwanji traditions.

Bishop Matsumoto, in his Dharma Message, recognized the Queen's courage in her non-violent response the overthrow of her government. Bishop Matsumoto pointed out that the Queen in her decision for nonviolence, represented the spirit of Prince Shotoku's words, "Let us cease from wrath and refrain from angry looks. Nor let us be resentful when others differ from us. For all people have hearts and each heart has its own leanings. Their right is our wrong, and our right is their wrong. We are not unquestionably sages, nor are they unquestionably fools."

Following the Dharma Talk, University of Hawaii at Hilo Professor Jackie Johnson Debus, entered the temple dressed as the Queen. She took my breath away. In my eyes, in that moment, she was the Queen. She performed a monologue, based on research by KT Cannon-Eger and Barbara Fujimoto, on the Queen's attendance to that 1901 service at Hawaii Betsuin. In her monologue, the Queen reflected on the details of that occasion and her thoughts and impressions of Buddhism. She also described her relationship to the Japanese who worked for her. It was extraordinary to hear the details of her feelings and her genuine respect for the Japanese community.

The service ended with the entire gathering singing Aloha O'e, a song she wrote. It was a fitting and very emotional moment for me.

The one thing that moved me above all else is the fact that this service brought together members of our community in a loving and gentle way that was respectful of diverse cultures and belief systems. It was a living moment of the truth of our profound interdependence with all beings.

2016 VETERAN'S DAY PARADE

The sky was clear and the weather perfect for the largest Veteran's Day Parade in the state of Hawaii. The Wahiawa Lion's Club has sponsored this parade for 70 years and Wahiawa Hongwanji has partnered with them and has been an active participant in all those years.

Over 78 units marched in this 2-hour parade including the various military branches, island schools, their ROTC units and marching bands, and many other organizations. Marchers from the Wahiawa Hongwanji totaled 50+, including Bishop Eric Matsumoto and State Kyodan President Pieper Toyama, as well as 20 or more cheerleaders (those unable to make the uphill walk) who cheered from in front of the temple.

The approximate 2-1/2 mile walk up California Avenue ended at the Wahiawa District Park, where for the first time in the parade's 70-year history a Buddhist minister was invited to open the formal ceremony. For the past number of years Rev. Hashimoto has been doing the benediction to close the ceremony. This year Rev. Hashimoto had the honor of doing the invocation for this big community event.

Members from temples all over the island, including the Betsuin, Jikoen and Mililani, joined the Wahiawa members out on the field to assist Rev. Hashimoto by scattering flower petals during the chanting of the "Sanbujo." The "Sanbujo," used at the beginning of many formal services, welcomes all Buddhas for whom we joyfully scatter these flower petals.

During the chant Sensei not only explained each verse in English but also honored in gratitude all ancestors and veterans. It was a beautiful and moving experience that will be remembered by many in the audience especially those seeing this for the very first time.

(Dale Shimaura, Wahiawa Hongwanji)
